

GLYPH

Cast bronze, wood, and metal sculptures are suspended from a wall-mounted wooden peg rack hung above a hand-carved bench. This piece was conceived for a hallway, a place often frequented but never truly seen. The hallway is an overlooked domestic space, but in fact it is the entry way to an intimate world which reflects whomever resides within. Glyph was created to set a tone of curiosity and wonder from the first entry point into a personal space.
